

PLAIN LIFE

On thinking, feeling and deciding
ANTONIA PONT

- In a world that praises achievement and productivity, Antonia Pont's razor-sharp and playful prose questions our thinking about capacities, virtue, envy, wanting, love and kindness
- Develops and extends Antonia Pont's popular essays published on Lithub, The Lifted Brow, Meanjin and more
- Quick-witted, challenging and very readable, Antonia Pont's writing will appeal to readers of Jenny Odell and Maggie Nelson

These days, it's easy to get the impression that people are really very anxious. Who? you ask. Well, people you hear about. People who tell you they are. Friends. Lovers. Acquaintances. Colleagues. The Youth. The term is around and people are applying it to themselves, or having it applied to them, willy-nilly.

What would it mean to be able to live a plain life? Would a plain life just be an unambitious one – a drab or routine life, without colour, variation, unknowing or luck? Or would a plain life be one in which we'd fret slightly less, suspect ourselves less, and thus listen to ourselves and others in new ways? We may not need to do more and be more – in the quiet spaces already within us, lurking in the interstices of our days and conversations, there are ways and choreographies to nurture a plainer, saner, odder, less reactive and therefore less terrifying life.

In Plain Life, Antonia Pont questions our thinking about capacities, virtue, envy, wanting, love and kindness – suggesting that it might be fine, more than enough, indeed so much, to live a plain life.

'A stunning exploration of a hidden world. These are among the most remarkable images of fungi I've ever seen, woven into relation by a series of writings that beautifully illuminate the mysteries and wonders of fungal life.' – Merlin Sheldrake, author of Entangled Life

PLANET FUNGI

A Photographer's Foray

CATHERINE MARCINIAK, STEPHEN AXFORD, TOM MAY

- Presents a fungal feast for the eyes with stunning imagery accompanied by fascinating science stories, making the often hidden world of fungi accessible for everyone
- Features incredible macro-photography from internationally renowned fungi photographer and fungi hunter Stephen Axford
- Details the discovery of species new to science, explains how fungal life is critical to the planet's resilience in the face of climate change and recounts stories of fungi safaris to some of the most remote forests on the planet

Fungi are nature's great networkers, weaving connections, driving transformation and thriving in the most unexpected places. Planet Fungi: A Photographer's Foray is a feast for the eyes, with stunning imagery and pioneering explorations that reveal the intricacies of fungal biology and their ecological significance.

It was a chance encounter in the forest with a purple mushroom that completely changed photographer Stephen Axford's view of the world. He became obsessed with documenting the largely unexplored kingdom of fungi and, alongside his partner, Catherine Marciniak, capturing the beauty and diversity of fungi in some of the most remote regions on Earth. There are an estimated 2-5 million species of fungi found all over the world, yet with only around 155,000 described so far, there is so much left to discover.

From glowing mushrooms in ancient forests to bizarre, alien-like forms, these extraordinary organisms will challenge how you see the natural world.

THE SCEPTICAL BOTANIST

Separating Fact from Fiction

TIM ENTWISLE

- Includes 50 thought-provoking essays on the myths of plants and gardens
- Gently provocative, quirky and captivating
- Scholarly but always witty and fun, with light-hearted cartoons
- Dispelling myths and unpicking taboos, always with good humour and a lightness of touch
- Covers a variety of topics associated with gardening, including 'What makes plants tick?', 'Plants from elsewhere', 'Garden plants and landscapes', 'Gardening with convictions' and 'Observing and cataloguing nature'

Do trees talk to one another? Can a plant use up the oxygen in a room while you sleep? What is a native plant and what is a weed? Are some plants truly immortal?

Through 50 beautifully crafted essays, former director of preeminent botanic gardens and self-confessed plant punk Tim Entwisle shines a gentle light on everyday questions about plants and gardens, guiding the reader through fact and fiction.

Including the best of his contributions to gardening magazines and newspapers over four decades, as well as 24 pieces written specially for this book, The Sceptical Botanist is a tour de force of investigative writing from one of Australia's most thoughtful and inquisitive botanical minds.

Pick up The Sceptical Botanist and you'll never look at a plant or garden in the same way again!

CÉZANNE TO GIACOMETTI: HIGHLIGHTS FROM MUSEUM BERGGRUEN / NEUE NATIONALGALERIE CREATED BY NATIONAL GALLERY OF AUSTRALIA

- Embark on a vivid journey through the dynamic changes in, and interchanges between, European and Australian art in the twentieth century with Cézanne to Giacometti: Highlights from Museum Berggruen / Neue Nationalgalerie

Museum Berggruen, part of Neue Nationalgalerie in Berlin, is one of the most exceptional modernist collections in the world. The collection, which was built across decades by the German American collector and art dealer Heinz Berggruen (1914-2007), includes masterpieces by Pablo Picasso, Paul Klee, Georges Braque, Paul Cézanne, Henri Matisse and Alberto Giacometti.

By putting this collection in dialogue with the National Gallery of Australia's rich collection of modernist artists, such as Cossington Smith, John Passmore, Grace Crowley, Hirschfeld Mack, Inge King and Rosemary Madigan, we can illuminate the electrifying way in which ideas, techniques and artists moved across the borders of space, time and culture.

This authoritative publication stages a conversation between European and Australian art across a period of revolution and reinvention throughout the twentieth century. A major collaborative essay researched and written by exhibition curators David Greenhalgh, Natalie Zimmer and Deirdre Cannon explores how these artists took inspiration from one other and the circulation of images, objects and artworks that marked the modern age. This curatorial team are joined by other scholars including Dr Gabriel Montua, Head of Museum Berggruen, Neue Nationalgalerie – Stiftung Preußischer Kulturbesitz and Simeran Maxwell also examine key artists and their works in details through a selection of annotated plates.

Featuring over 140 colour reproductions and a conveniently compact flat-reading format with gatefold, this rich publication not only demonstrates how these artists envisioned new ways of looking at the world, but provides a new way of seeing these artists within transnational contexts.

- A national publicity campaign in conjunction with strategic events and other social collateral

Portent, symbol, metaphor: from the Bunyip to the Slenderman, from Count Dracula to the (far more sinister) emotional vampire, monsters of all forms have offered us ways to express and exorcise our fears for thousands of years.

Griffith Review 89: Here Be Monsters surveys beasts and bogeymen past and present, real and imagined, to peel back the layers of our social and cultural anxieties. What are we most afraid of? When is monstrosity alluring rather than frightening? And what form might the monsters of the future take?

REAL JAPANESE COOKING

Traditions, Tips, Techniques and Over 600 Authentic Recipes

MAKIKO ITOH

- Makiko Itoh's mission with this truly comprehensive bible is to demystify Japanese cuisine – so this is the only Japanese cookbook you will ever need!
- Comparable to classics like Julia Child's Mastering the Art of French Cooking and David Thompson's Thai Food, this unique book provides a thorough overview of the history, culture, implements, aesthetics and ingredients of Japanese cuisine
- The recipes include all the standards like tonkatsu, sushi, yakisoba, teriyaki, miso soup and ramen, but also many dishes rarely seen outside Japan – such as nimono simmered dishes, kinpira stir-fries, izakaya grilled dishes, and nabe hotpots
- Comprehensive guides to equipment and seasonal ingredients along with 100 essays and sidebars cover every aspect of the cuisine
- A must-read for every Japanese food lover!

The first comprehensive cookbook to fully cover all aspects of Japanese cuisine – with 600 recipes!

This book has been a lifetime in the making. Bicultural author Makiko Itoh was born in Tokyo and grew up in New York, where her mother ran the leading Japanese restaurant for two decades. She has since developed a career as a successful bilingual food writer and translator, uniquely positioned to explain the cuisine to non-Japanese.

Her book answers all the questions foreigners typically have about one of the world's greatest cuisines, including:

- Why is Japanese food so unique? A full overview – from umami to seasonality to aesthetics
- Essential ingredients like miso, mirin, dashi, sake and soy – how and why they are used
- How to design a Japanese meal – from tableware to equipment to etiquette
- Which recipes are right for you? The 600 recipes in this book cover everything from bento boxes to nimono simmered dishes to izakaya, sushi and hotpots. But which ones should you try?

About the author:

Makiko Itoh was raised and educated in Japan, the UK and the US and has lived in Europe for many decades. Despite living abroad, she has always returned to her native Japanese culinary roots. In 2003 she started writing the JustHungry blog to introduce Japanese homestyle dishes to people with limited access to the authentic ingredients. In 2007 she launched a blog dedicated to bento, which led to the publication of her first book, The Just Bento Cookbook, which has become an international bestseller.

- Enables you to better appreciate and understand insects and improve your success rate in finding, watching, and identifying them
- Includes a comprehensive treatment of insect behaviours that is invaluable for beginners
- Discusses social bugwatching and participation in community science projects
- Covers advanced topics such as rearing insects and using keys to identify them
- Explains how watching insects can fill gaps in our knowledge about their economic impacts and the growing decline in insect diversity and abundance
- Promotes safety, accessibility, and inclusion as vital aspects of watching insects
- An essential guide for seasoned bugwatchers and newcomers to the community

Discover the pleasures of watching insects with this fun, informative, and marvellously illustrated how-to guide

Insects are the most abundant wildlife on the planet – but also the least observed. This incisive field companion highlights the basic tools for watching insects with all of our senses, covers some best habitats and circumstances for seeing the most diversity, and shares tips for attracting desirable insects to your yard and garden. With wonderful illustrations by Samantha Gallagher, Bugwatching explains why this rewarding activity is for everyone, regardless of age, ethnicity, gender identity, level of affluence, ability, or disability. When you become a bugwatcher, you join a community of supportive and energetic people. The potential for personal and scientific discovery is virtually limitless.

KING TYRANT

A Natural History of Tyrannosaurus rex

MARK P. WITTON

- Features more than 150 breathtaking illustrations, photos, and diagrams
- Covers everything from the research history of T. rex to their anatomy, physiology, biomechanics, behaviour, and extinction
- Reveals how the Tyrannosaurus known to science is characterised as much by radical changes in body form throughout its growth as its enormous size and powerful jaws
- Discloses details about their lifestyles and behaviour evidenced from fossils, from violent face-biting between rivals to their capacity to literally pull the heads off Triceratops carcasses
- Gets to the bottom of the many controversies surrounding T. rex, such as: Was there really more than one species of Tyrannosaurus? Did they live and hunt in groups? How fast could they run and how hard could they bite? Can we truly distinguish males from females?
- Discusses T. rex in popular culture, showing how our love for this dinosaur has both helped and hindered research

A marvelously illustrated look at everything we now know about the fearsome king of the dinosaurs.

Tyrannosaurus rex is the world's favorite dinosaur, adored by the public and the subject of intense study and debate by paleontologists. This stunningly illustrated book brings together everything we have learned about T. rex – the 'King of the Tyrant Lizards' – since it was first given its famous name in 1905. It presents these creatures as science knows them rather than the version portrayed in movies, revealing them to be dramatically different, and far more amazing, than ever imagined. With numerous original paintings and diagrams by the author, King Tyrant draws on the latest discoveries to offer a modern understanding of Tyrannosaurus, pulling back the curtain of media hype that often obscures these extraordinary extinct animals while cementing their reputation as the most formidable carnivores of the Mesozoic.

DRAGONFLIES AND DAMSELFLIES OF THE WORLD

A Guide to Their Diversity

DR. KLAAS-DOUWE B. DIJKSTRA

- Features stunning colour photos of hundreds of species
- Characterises all families and major subgroups
- Explores how their unique features and behaviour led to today's variety
- Shows how we contribute to their popularisation and protection

A richly illustrated guide to the incredible diversity of dragonflies and damselfies around the world.

Airily dancing over rivers and ponds, the thousands of colourful dragonfly and damselfly species that cohabit our planet may seem of little importance. Few life-forms, however, convey the condition of the most limiting resource on land and life's most bountiful environment as well as they can: while the adults are exceptional aerial hunters, their nymphs are all confined to freshwater. Dragonflies and Damselfies of the World showcases their beauty and diversity while shedding light on how they evolved into the vital symbols of planetary health we celebrate today.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY IN AN AGE OF EXISTENTIAL THREATS

BRYAN HARRIGAN

- In the National Interest offers serious general readers evidence-based arguments that spark informed debate on the issues that matter

In an age of existential threats for Australia and the world, what does society need from companies and how should companies respond? Corporate social responsibility (CSR) has a leading role to play in answering these fundamental questions. Yet current Australian and international debate remains stuck in polarised positions on CSR and related topics, including environmental, social and governance considerations (ESG), and diversity, equity and inclusion factors (DEI) for businesses.

In this groundbreaking book, Professor Bryan Horrigan provides a roadmap for navigating the complexity of CSR and the current controversies surrounding it. How is the corporate landscape changing for Australia and the world on corporate diversity, climate disclosures, and social and environmental harms? Do Australian businesses, the professions advising them, and even universities all have social licences to operate? Should they all speak and act publicly on controversial social and environmental issues, or stay out of the arena of partisan politics altogether?

VERGE 2025

Blue

EDITED BY JONATHAN RICKETSON, SHALOM VERGHESE, YONG LI, CASSIE KROPP

- Jonathan Ricketson named 2025 ABR Rising Star
- Verge, now in its nineteenth year, is produced by Monash University's Literary Studies and Creative Writing department
- Features talented, aspiring writers alongside established names
- An ideal gift for a lover of literature

The blue geometries of the seats of a departing train. Lightning striking twice out of the blue. The rhythm of faint blues.

Blue is the most mysterious and evocative of colours. It can signify the beginning of love and the end of life. It can evoke tranquillity or tension. For Ted Hughes, blue is a 'kindly spirit', an 'electrified', 'thoughtful...guardian'; for Joni Mitchell, it is a sigh-filled song, a 'foggy lullaby'. For Henry David Thoreau, the 'blue ground' is the source of 'new truth'. And Goethe writes: 'We love to contemplate blue, not because it advances us, but because it draws us after it.'

In the nineteenth edition of this creative anthology, writers from Monash University and beyond share pieces that span fiction, nonfiction, poetry and experimental forms. They explore shades of blue that ravish the senses, narratives saturated in melancholic hues, and poetry that hums with the electric charge of blue.

CLIMATE INJUSTICE

Why We Need to Fight Global Inequality to Combat Climate Change

FRIEDERIKE OTTO, TRANSLATED BY SARAH PYBUS

- Extreme weather's impact on the most vulnerable – and why this happens – is rarely discussed specifically in climate literature
- Friederike Otto is one of a handful of scientists in the world who can calculate in real time how much climate change has impacted our weather
- Variety of Weather Events Discussed: including: the 2010s drought in South Africa; 2021 drought in Madagascar; 2019 rainforest wildfires in Brazil; 2019-20 wildfires in Australia; 2022 floods in Pakistan

Climate change does not affect everyone equally. While many scientists focus on studying climate change as a physics problem, Friederike Otto, one of the world's most renowned climate scientists, sees it as a symptom of the global crisis of inequality, not its cause. In this ambitious, fast-paced book, she offers concrete examples of how extreme weather events caused by climate change reveal uncomfortable truths about the failures of political and social infrastructures around the world.

Inequality and injustice are at the core of what makes climate change a problem for humanity. Fairness and global justice must therefore be at the core of the solution. Climate justice concerns everyone.

THE THIRD REICH OF DREAMS

The Nightmares of a Nation

CHARLOTTE BERADT, TRANSLATED BY DAMION SEARLS, PREFACE BY DUNYA MIKHAIL

- The hidden history of a nation sleepwalking its way into evil

Charlotte Beradt began having unsettling dreams after Adolf Hitler took power in 1933. She envisioned herself being shot at, tortured and scalped, surrounded by Nazis in disguise, and breathlessly fleeing across fields with storm troopers at her heels. Shaken by these nightmares and banned as a Jew from working, she began secretly collecting dreams from her friends and neighbours, both Jewish and non-Jewish. Disguising these 'diaries of the night' in code and concealing them in the spines of books from her extensive library, she smuggled them out of the country one by one.

Available again for the first time since its publication in the 1960s, this sensational book brings together this uniquely powerful dream record, offering a visceral understanding of how terror is internalised and how propaganda colonises the imagination. After Beradt herself fled Germany for New York, she collected these dream accounts and began to trace the common symbols and themes that appeared in the collective unconscious of a traumatised nation. The fear of dictatorship was ever-present. Dreams of thought control, even the prohibition of dreaming itself, bore witness to the collapse of outer and inner worlds.

INDIGENOUS TATTOO TRADITIONS

Humanity through Skin and Ink

LARS KRUTAK, FOREWORD BY SEAN MALLON

- A beautifully illustrated history of Indigenous tattooing practices around the world

Tattooing within Indigenous communities is a time-honoured practice that binds the tattoo recipient to a deeply felt collective history. More than mere decoration, tattoos embody cultural values, ancestral ties, and spiritual beliefs. Indigenous Tattoo Traditions captures ancient tribal tattooing practices and their contemporary resurgence, highlighting a beautiful aspect of humanity's shared cultural heritage.

Transporting readers through history, Lars Krutak explores the art and customs of tattooing across numerous ancestral lands, including Africa, the Middle East, the Americas, the Arctic, Oceania, Japan, Southeast Asia, and Siberia. He illustrates how tattoos function as a form of writing that defines and structures community life, performing as rites of passage, symbols of rank, and signs of marital or religious devotion, among other facets of culture.

SEX IS A SPECTRUM

The Biological Limits of the Binary

AGUSTÍN FUENTES

- Why human biology is far more expansive than the simple categories of female and male

Being human entails an astonishingly complex interplay of biology and culture, and while there are important differences between women and men, there is a lot more variation and overlap than we may realise. Sex Is a Spectrum offers a bold new paradigm for understanding the biology of sex, drawing on the latest science to explain why the binary view of the sexes is fundamentally flawed – and why having XX or XY chromosomes isn't as conclusive as some would have us believe.

In this lively and provocative book, leading biological anthropologist Agustín Fuentes begins by tracing the origin and evolution of sex, describing the many ways in the animal kingdom of being female, male, or both. Turning to humans, he presents compelling evidence from the fossil and archaeological record that attests to the diversity of our ancestors' sexual bonds, gender roles, and family and community structures, and shows how the same holds true in the lived experiences of people today. Fuentes tackles hot-button debates around sports and medicine, explaining why we can acknowledge that females and males are not the same while also embracing a biocultural reality where none of us fits neatly into only one of two categories.

Bringing clarity and reason to a contentious issue, Sex Is a Spectrum shares a scientist's perspective on why a binary view of sex and gender is not only misguided but harmful, and why there are multitudes of ways of being human.

ISLAM

A New History from Muhammad to the Present
JOHN TOLAN

- A concise new narrative history of Islam that draws on the transformative insights of recent research to emphasise the diversity and dynamism of the tradition

Today's Muslim world is in upheaval: legalists and mystics engage in intense debates, radical groups invoke Sharia, Muslim immigrants in the West face prejudice and discrimination, and Muslim feminists advocate new interpretations of the Koran. At the same time, Islam is mischaracterised as unitary and unchanging by people ranging from right-wing Western politicians claiming that Islam is incompatible with democracy to conservative Muslims dreaming of returning to the golden age of the prophet. Against this contentious backdrop, this book provides an essential and timely new history of the religion in all its astonishing richness and diversity as it has been practiced by Muslims around the world, from seventh-century Mecca to today.

Most popular histories of Islam continue to repeat conventional pietistic accounts. In contrast, John Tolan draws on decades of new historical research that has transformed knowledge of the origins and development of the Muslim faith. He shows how the youngest of the three great monotheisms arose in close contact with Jewish, Christian, and other religious traditions in a mixture of cultures.

MOSESSES, LIVERWORTS, AND HORNWORTS OF THE WORLD

A Guide to Every Order
JOANNA WILBRAHAM

- Features hundreds of stunning colour photos of mosses, liverworts, and hornworts
- Profiles individual genera across the three groups, including fact boxes and distribution maps
- Written by a world-renowned expert

A magnificently illustrated guide to the bryophyte species found across the world.

Bryophytes are a highly diverse group of plants found in nearly all parts of the world and across a range of habitats. The term 'bryophyte' describes plants of three closely related lineages: the mosses, liverworts, and hornworts.

Ancient in their makeup, bryophytes disperse by spores rather than seeds and grow no more than a few centimetres high, carpeting forest floors or clinging to rocks and tree trunks. Instead of conducting fluids internally (like vascular plants), they absorb water and nutrients externally across the whole body of the plant. Such strategies have enabled bryophytes to survive, and indeed thrive, through the millennia.

Mosses, Liverworts, and Hornworts of the World makes sense of their miniature world.

TAROT DISASSEMBLED

(78 Full-Color Cards)
JENNIFER COOPER STEIDLEY

- This deck takes the traditional symbolism found in the tarot and uses fresh, bold graphics to allow readers to connect to the cards in a completely intuitive way
- There are no people included in the deck, which allows for narratives around gender, skin colour, age, size, ability, or any other human constructs to be removed from a reader's interpretations
- Deck has stained edges

With a bright colour palette and bold graphics, this unique seventy-eight-card full-colour tarot deck deconstructs and reexamines the traditional symbolism found in the Rider-Waite-Smith tarot, opening the door for fresh insight into a classic. Tarot Disassembled allows the user to connect with the tarot in a completely intuitive way, free from any pictorial narrative around gender, skin colour, age, size, ability, or any other human constructs.

The simplicity of the symbols makes it a great first deck for beginners, and pros will enjoy unpeeling the traditional tarot like an onion – discovering layer upon layer of meaning in the richness of simple imagery.

TAROT DISASSEMBLED GUIDEBOOK

Deconstructing the Symbols of the Major and Minor Arcana
JENNIFER COOPER STEIDLEY, FOREWORD BY THERESA REED

- This guide uses the traditional symbolism found in the tarot and shares it as bold graphics to allow readers to connect to the cards in a completely intuitive way

The Tarot Disassembled Guidebook provides fresh insight into interpreting the traditional symbolism found in the tarot. In this companion book to the Tarot Disassembled card deck, author and creator Jennifer Cooper Steidley has deconstructed the symbolism, presenting it in bold graphics, allowing the user to connect with the tarot in a completely intuitive way – free from any pictorial narrative around gender, skin colour, age, size, ability, or any other human constructs.

Sometimes we need to take something apart in order to appreciate what's in it. The same is true for the ingredients of the tarot: the individual symbols that make up the complex picture of a tarot card. There is potential for deep understanding that comes with the act of disassembling, and this guidebook deconstructs each of the seventy-eight cards. Each card remains undeniably recognisable. The deconstructed simplicity allows tarot's rich symbolism to become clear, and readers can see how the symbols wind their way through each card in the deck.

You scramble up over the dunes of an isolated beach. You climb to the summit of a lonely hill. You pick your way through the eerie hush of a forest. And then you find them. The traces of the past. Perhaps they are marked by a tiny symbol on your map, perhaps not. There are no plaques to explain their fading presence before you, nothing to account for what they once were – who made them, lived in them or abandoned them. Now they are merged with the landscape. They are being reclaimed by nature. They are wild history.

SHAKESPEARE'S GUIDE TO LIVING THE GOOD LIFE

Life Lessons for Comedy, Tragedy, and Everything in Between

KIM BRADLEY

- A fresh, inspiring take on Shakespeare's classic works
- The author is a member of the Folger Shakespeare Library and a Shakespeare enthusiast dedicated to making his work accessible and fun for everyone

‘Virtue is bold, and goodness never fearful.’
– Measure for Measure, act 3, scene 1

Shakespeare's plays and poems remain as beloved in the twenty-first century as they were in the sixteenth. For all the years between us, the world he inhabited was much like our own – afflicted by political turmoil, divisiveness, war, extreme weather, recurrent plagues, the fouling of natural resources on which everyone relied, and discrimination against people who were different. The bard's remedy for these troubles was to offer respite and inspiration to his audience through his writing.

In this book, author Kim Bradley teases out the inspirational messages in Shakespeare's works. Every chapter is a journey through one of his most notable plays, each with actionable life lessons to be learned from his writing. Explore the power of acts of service with Twelfth Night, or the joy of forgiveness with The Tempest.

INTRATERRESTRIALS

Discovering the Strangest Life on Earth

KAREN G. LLOYD

- A biologist's firsthand account of the hunt for life beneath earth's surface – and how new discoveries are challenging our most basic assumptions about the nature of life on Earth

Life thrives in the deepest, darkest recesses of Earth's crust – from methane seeps in the ocean floor to the highest reaches of Arctic permafrost – and it is unlike anything seen on the surface. Intraterrestrials shares what scientists are learning about these strange types of microbial life – and how research expeditions to some of the most extreme locales on the planet are broadening our understanding of what life is and how its earliest forms may have evolved.

Drawing on her experiences and those of her fellow scientists working in challenging and often dangerous conditions, Karen Lloyd takes readers on an adventure from the bottom of the ocean through the jungles of Central America to the high-altitude volcanoes of the Andes. Only discovered in recent decades, 'intraterrestrials' – subsurface beings that are truly alien – are demonstrating how life can exist in boiling water, pure acid, and bleach. They enable us to peer back to the very dawn of life on Earth, disclosing deep branches on the tree of life that push the limits of what we thought possible. Some can 'breathe' rocks or even electrons. Others may live for hundreds of thousands of years or longer. All of them are living in ways that are totally foreign to us surface dwellers.

DOC OR QUACK

Science and Anti-Science in Modern Medicine

SANDER L. GILMAN

- An examination of the ever-shifting boundary between scientific medicine and quackery

Reaching from the beginnings of scientific medicine in the 19th century through to the present, Sander L. Gilman examines the ever-shifting boundary between scientific medicine and quackery, asking if such a fixed boundary can actually exist within mainstream medical practice. Through detailed case studies – stomach ulcers, eye disease and acupuncture – it reveals the influence of pharmaceutical companies in determining the science of medical practice, the pros and cons of the increasing specialisation in medical practice, and the murky issue of 'race' in scientific medicine.

This readable account covers medical practice from the Enlightenment to the present, offering a realistic view of health politics in the US, Germany and the UK. It's an essential read for anyone interested in the history and politics of Western medicine.

THE GREAT BETRAYAL

The Struggle for Freedom and Democracy in the Middle East

FAWAZ A. GERGES

- How the Middle East can achieve political change and social progress

The Middle East is in upheaval: a widening chasm between state and society, the failure of governing elites to address citizens' genuine grievances, massive economic mismanagement – all made worse by repeated interventions by Western powers. Why has political change been so difficult to achieve? In The Great Betrayal, Fawaz Gerges argues that the convergence of political authoritarianism, meddling by the West, and the effects of prolonged regional conflicts have produced political paralysis and economic stagnation. The agency of everyday people has been thwarted by an authoritarian status quo that is maintained by a powerful partnership of external and internal forces.

Gerges traces more than a century of consequential events in the region, from the end of the Ottoman Empire and the European carve-up of the Middle East to the Iranian Revolution and the Arab Spring uprisings. He shows how the people of the Middle East have been systematically denied self-determination, political representation, and effective government.

MAXIMILIAN HESS

- Updated new edition, now in paperback!
- Traces Russia's response to Western sanctions through London courts, Swiss trading desks and boardrooms in New Delhi
- Charts the conflicts over finance, energy and capital markets that will determine the fate of liberalism and democracy

Winner, Fletcher US – Russia Relations Book Prize

*Selected as a Financial Times 'Book to Read'*

Maximilian Hess's startling book lifts the lid on Russia's response to Western sanctions, and the ensuing skirmishes in London's courts, on Swiss trading desks and in boardrooms in New Delhi. He explores how pipelines, mines, loans and crypto-markets were weaponised. This narrative sets the stage for Putin's all-out assault on Kyiv in February 2022, which turned financial, food and fuel markets into bona fide battlefields, bringing the fight into everyone's home, from Pennsylvania to Pakistan.

'Much has been said about Putin's background in the KGB, but Hess makes a convincing case that his days in the St. Petersburg government, when he served as a liaison between the city, foreign business and, occasionally, criminal underworld, were just as formative.' — The Washington Post

THE ACTIVATOR ADVANTAGE

What Today's Rainmakers Do Differently

MATTHEW DIXON, RORY CHANNER, KAREN FREEMAN, TED MCKENNA

- Readers will gain a deep understanding of the seismic shifts in client behaviour within the professional services industry
- Offers actionable advice by detailing the habits and strategies of the most successful partners, known as Activators. These insights are derived from a comprehensive study of nearly 3,000 partners across various sectors, providing a proven framework for success
- Provides strategies to not only attract new clients but also to enhance the loyalty and retention of existing ones

A proven approach used by today's best professional service partners to win, retain, and grow client relationships.

There is a growing problem in the professional services industry that is often acknowledged but rarely discussed: clients – even long-standing ones for whom firms have consistently delivered unquestioned value – are much less loyal to those firms and partners than they once were. This dramatic shift in client behaviour has rendered traditional approaches to business development not only ineffective but counterproductive.

But top performers have figured out a radical new approach that is redefining what it means to be a rainmaker in today's professional services market.

THE POWER OF MATTERING

How Leaders Can Create a Culture of Significance

ZACH MERCURIO

- Takes on a topic that is popular and growing in relevance – mattering – and applies it to the workplace
- Provides an accessible framework for leaders to understand how to better notice their people, affirm them that they're significant, and show that they're needed
- Filled with interesting, relatable stories from diverse occupations and industries, from janitorial work to education to airlines and more

Your people have a fundamental need to be seen, heard, and valued.

Increasingly, people report feeling overlooked, ignored, and underappreciated at work. Simply put, they don't feel like they matter to their leaders or organisations – and it's taking a toll. This hidden epidemic of insignificance is fueling a mental health crisis, intensifying loneliness, and, for organisations, driving disengagement, turnover, and low performance.

The good news is that leaders can learn the skills to ensure that everyone around them feels valued and knows how they add value at work. Through a captivating exploration of the emerging science of mattering and drawing from hands-on work in hundreds of diverse industries and organisations, researcher and speaker Zach Mercurio reveals how mattering to others is a fundamental – yet often overlooked – requirement for thriving.

ANOTHER WAY

Building Companies That Last...and Last... and Last

DAVE WHORTON, WITH BO BURLINGHAM

- A narrative that builds the practical content it proffers at once inspiring and instructing readers on how they can be part of or lead an evergreen company
- A smart and thoughtful evaluation of approaches to building, growing and sustaining companies

From the inner sanctum of Silicon Valley and short-term capitalism comes the story of a VC who lived it, then left it and found a better way to build great companies.

Dave Whorton was John Doerr's associate partner at high-flying Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Byers during Silicon Valley's big shift, when he witnessed the VC industry pivot from a proven forty-year playbook of managing risk to something much more aggressive: 'get-big-fast'. Don't worry about profitability. Cash out and find another venture.

For a while, Whorton took part in this whirlwind as he pursued his dream of becoming the next Hewlett or Packard, starting two companies himself. But soon it all got to be too much. Whorton recognised that if get-big-fast was the formula for building a great technology company in the twenty-first century, that just wasn't for him.

A History of Taiwan Through the Life of Huang Chin-ao

ANNA BETH KEIM

- A hundred-year history of the challenges and triumphs of contemporary Taiwan, through the inspiring true story of one man who lived through it all
- A uniquely Taiwanese story but also highlights experiences shared by countries across the world: of colonialism and its aftermath

As the geopolitical importance of Taiwan grows, this history provides a guide to the country.

Huang Chin-ao was born in 1926, when Taiwan was still part of the Japanese Empire. By the time he died in 2019, Taiwan was a bustling, high-tech democracy – and Huang had lived through every twist and turn along the way. He served as a Japanese soldier in China during World War II; joined an armed uprising against Taiwan's Chinese Nationalist post-war government; spent twenty-four years imprisoned during the island's decades of martial law; and finally emerged to help lead the pro-democracy movement of the 1980s in his hometown, Taichung.

THE QUOTABLE KIERKEGAARD

SØREN KIERKEGAARD, EDITED BY GORDON MARINO

- The most comprehensive and authoritative collection of Kierkegaard quotations ever published

'Why I so much prefer autumn to spring is that in the autumn one looks at heaven – in the spring at the earth.' – Søren Kierkegaard

The father of existentialism, Søren Kierkegaard (1813-1855) was a philosopher who could write like an angel. With only a sentence or two, he could plumb the depths of the human spirit. In this collection of some 800 quotations, the reader will find dazzling bon mots next to words of life-changing power. Drawing from the authoritative Princeton editions of Kierkegaard's writings, this book presents a broad selection of his wit and wisdom, as well as a stimulating introduction to his life and work.

Organised by topic, this volume covers notable Kierkegaardian concerns such as anxiety, despair, existence, irony, and the absurd, but also erotic love, the press, busyness, and the comic.

HILDE ØSTBY, TRANSLATED BY MATT BAGGULEY

- Loneliness is an epidemic according to senior government officials in the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom
- Provides unique and sweeping exploration of a global problem, featuring highly readable descriptions of findings in psychology, neuroscience, and the social sciences

A cerebral, intricate study of loneliness from an acclaimed Scandinavian writer.

Far beyond a personal difficulty, loneliness has grown into a problem that plagues whole societies. Many countries, including the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom, have gone as far to declare a loneliness epidemic. Loneliness can lead to depression and anxiety, and can even increase your chance of death by 26%. But what defines loneliness, and is it true that we are lonelier now than we have ever been?

HOW WE AGE

The Science of Longevity

COLEEN T. MURPHY

- How recent breakthroughs in longevity research offer clues about human aging

All of us would like to live longer, or to slow the debilitating effects of age. In How We Age, Coleen Murphy shows how recent research on longevity and aging may be bringing us closer to this goal. Murphy, a leading scholar of aging, explains that the study of model systems, particularly simple invertebrate animals, combined with breakthroughs in genomic methods, have allowed scientists to probe the molecular mechanisms of longevity and aging. Understanding the fundamental biological rules that govern aging in model systems provides clues about how we might slow human aging, which could lead in turn to new therapeutics and treatments for age-related disease.

Among other vivid examples, Murphy describes research that shows how changing a single gene in the nematode worm C. elegans doubles its lifespan, extending not only the end of life but also the youthful, healthy part of life.

THE GREAT LEVELER

Violence and the History of Inequality from the Stone Age to the Twenty-First Century

WALTER SCHEIDEL

- How only violence and catastrophes have consistently reduced inequality throughout world history

Are mass violence and catastrophes the only forces that can seriously decrease economic inequality? To judge by thousands of years of history, the answer is yes. Tracing the global history of inequality from the Stone Age to today, Walter Scheidel shows that inequality never dies peacefully. Inequality declines when carnage and disaster strike and increases when peace and stability return. The Great Leveler is the first book to chart the crucial role of violent shocks in reducing inequality over the full sweep of human history around the world.

Ever since humans began to farm, herd livestock, and pass on their assets to future generations, economic inequality has been a defining feature of civilisation.

OLD AGE IN ART

LARRY SILVER

- A sweeping history of aging in European art across centuries

Old Age in Art shows how aged individuals have been depicted from ancient Greece and Rome to the present century. It explores portraits, including self-portraits of artists in old age, and stories of older figures in religion, myth and history, focusing on the theme of wisdom versus folly. The book also discusses the concept of old age within the Ages of Humanity, especially during the Middle Ages and early modern periods. The final chapter examines how renowned artists like Michelangelo, Titian, and Monet turned to experimental forms and new subjects in their later years, revealing a comparative 'old age style'. This book provides a comprehensive overview of old age in European art history.

THE EVOLUTION OF IMPERFECTION

The Science of Why We Aren't and Can't Be Perfect

LAURENCE D. HURST

- How understanding our genetic imperfections can change our view of evolution and enrich what it means to be human

If we start with the presumption that evolution is a constantly improving process, some aspects of our evolution just do not make sense. We have a high rate of genetic diseases, for example, and much of our DNA seems to be pointless. In The Evolution of Imperfection, Laurence Hurst explores our apparently rotten genetic luck.

Hurst, a leading authority on evolution and genetics, argues that our evolutionary imperfections proceed directly from two features: the difficulties of pregnancy and the fact that historically there are relatively few of us. In pregnancy, natural selection can favor chromosomes that kill embryos in species (including ours) that continuously receive resources from the mother.

CRACKING THE CRAB

Russian Espionage Against Japan, from Peter the Great to Richard Sorge

JAMES D. J. BROWN

- A landmark history of the little known struggle between Russia and Japan
- Reveals colourful episodes from the eighteenth century to the Soviet declaration of war in August 1945
- Written by a specialist on East Asian politics and a regular contributor to media outlets such as the BBC

Richard Sorge is one of history's most famous spies. This hard-drinking, womanising, motorcycle-crashing Soviet officer penetrated the German embassy in Tokyo during the 1930s and gathered intelligence credited with changing the course of the Second World War. It is an intriguing tale; but Sorge's spy ring was just one chapter in a much longer history of Russian and Soviet espionage in and against Japan.

Cracking the Crab tells the extraordinary full story of Russian intrigue targeting Japan, from first encounters in the eighteenth century to the Soviet declaration of war in August 1945.

ELEMENTAL

How Five Elements Changed Earth's Past and Will Shape Our Future

STEPHEN PORDER

- Now in paperback!
- An ecologist explores how life itself shapes Earth using the elemental constituents we all share

It is rare for life to change Earth, yet three organisms have profoundly transformed our planet over the long course of its history. Elemental reveals how microbes, plants, and people used the fundamental building blocks of life to alter the climate, and with it, the trajectory of life on Earth in the past, present, and future.

Taking readers from the deep geologic past to our current era of human dominance, Stephen Porder focuses on five of life's essential elements – hydrogen, oxygen, carbon, nitrogen, and phosphorus. He describes how single-celled cyanobacteria and plants harnessed them to wildly proliferate across the oceans and the land, only to eventually precipitate environmental catastrophes.

SCOTTISH QUEENS

The Queens and Consorts Who Shaped the Nation

ROSALIND K. MARSHALL

- Reissue of this first ever illuminating study of the queens of Scotland
- From Lady Macbeth to Anne of Denmark, this collection of mini-biographies reveals the fascinating lives of these unusual women, who all found themselves at the helm of a kingdom, and reacted in very different ways

The lives of the Scottish queens, both those who ruled in their own right, and also the consorts, have largely been neglected in conventional history books.

One of the earliest known Scottish queens was none other than the notorious Lady MacBeth. Was she really the wicked woman depicted in Shakespeare's famous play? Was St Margaret a demure and obedient wife? Why did Margaret Logie exercise such an influence over her husband, David II, and have we underestimated James VI's consort, Anne of Denmark, frequently written off as a stupid and wilful woman?

THE BAGPIPES

A Cultural History

RICHARD MCLAUCHLAN

'Historically insightful and full of character. Captures the essence and beauty of piping's vibrant culture with historical, musical and characterful insight.' – Finlay MacDonald

- A diverse history of the pipes – from inspiring terror on battlefields to enriching cultures worldwide
- Explores how the meaning behind a 'national instrument' can evolve with the currents of a people's identity
- 16 colour illustrations

In the early second century CE, someone was described as playing a pipe 'with a bag tucked under his armpit'. That man, the first named piper in history, was the Roman Emperor Nero. Since then, this improbable conflation of bag and sticks has become one of the most beloved and contested instruments of all time. When another piping emperor, Tsar Peter the Great, watched his pet bear take its last breath, he decided the creature would live on – as a bagpipe.

This rich and vivid history tells the story of an instrument boasting over 130 varieties, yet commonly associated with just one form and one country.

IRAN'S GRAND STRATEGY

A Political History

VALI NASR

- From the New York Times bestselling author of The Shia Revival
- A gripping account that overturns simplistic portrayals of Iran as a theocratic pariah state, revealing how its strategic moves on the world stage are driven by two pervasive threats – external aggression and internal dissolution

Iran presents one of the most significant foreign policy challenges for America and the West, yet very little is known about what the country's goals really are. Vali Nasr examines Iran's political history in new ways to explain its actions and ambitions on the world stage, showing how, behind the veneer of theocracy and Islamic ideology, today's Iran is pursuing a grand strategy aimed at securing the country internally and asserting its place in the region and the world.

Drawing on memoirs, oral histories, and original in-depth interviews with Iranian decision makers, Nasr brings to light facts and events in Iran's political history that have been overlooked until now.

THE DIFFERENCE

How the Power of Diversity Creates Better Groups, Firms, Schools, and Societies

SCOTT E. PAGE

- The Difference is about how we think in groups – and how our collective wisdom exceeds the sum of its parts

In this landmark book, Scott Page redefines the way we understand ourselves in relation to one another. Why can teams of people find better solutions than brilliant individuals working alone? And why are the best group decisions and predictions those that draw upon the very qualities that make each of us unique? The answers lie in diversity – not what we look like outside, but what we look like within, our distinct tools and abilities.

The Difference reveals that progress and innovation may depend less on lone thinkers with enormous IQs than on diverse people working together and capitalising on their individuality. Page shows how groups that display a range of perspectives outperform groups of like-minded experts.

POWERS OF READING

From Plato to Audiobooks

PETER SZENDY, TRANSLATED BY OLIVIA CUSTER

- A historical, literary, and philosophical study that transforms our understanding of reading

‘Peter Szendy offers a subtle, persuasive, and unprecedented account of the time of reading and its scene of address, one that is as archaic as it is contemporary. When we read, are we listening to a voice or being read to? If it is not a private and monologic exercise, how do we understand the populated scene of reading? What reads when we read, and how does reading push and pull between temporalities and voices? Why do we keep leaving the text when we seek to obey the injunction to stay within its terms?’

Powers of Reading is a patient, brilliant, and illuminating inquiry into the crosscurrents of voice and address, one that speaks to the speed and complexity of our time, how we are upended by our forward propulsions, to consider how multiple voice, action, and passivity are all rearranged in the scene of reading.’ – Judith Butler, Distinguished Professor in the Graduate School, University of California, Berkeley

He created his first cryptic crossword puzzle in 1924 and went on to set them for the Saturday Westminster and the Observer for the next 15 years. His true identity was only revealed when he died in 1939.

As well as earning the reputation for setting the world's toughest crosswords, Torquemada - or 'Torq' as he was often referred to - was also delightfully creative: with many puzzles written in perfectly constructed verse, or delivered as mini-narratives to their solvers. There's even a version where the clues are knock-knock jokes.

HAFREN

The Wisdom of the River Severn

SARAH SIÂN CHAVE

- This book explores the history of Hafren (the river Severn) and its place in British history
- This book explores the significance of the river to those who live near it and the impact rivers have on both the landscape and people

Afon Hafren, the river Severn, is a mighty Welsh river. She has shaped many histories and is part of many stories. In Celtic traditions, water is a source of wisdom. In a time of ecological crisis, how can we listen to the wisdom of Hafren?

Sarah Siân Chave takes us on a journey from Hafren's source to the sea, following Hafren's route from Pumlumon in Wales and meandering through England, before she finds her way back home to Wales and to the sea. The journey weaves together Celtic myths, historical and personal narratives as well as Welsh words and ideas.

- The series has sold more than 26,000 copies

Names are very important and can unlock vast amounts of information about places and their origins.

The placename of Scotland are a goldmine of information about times past and the lives of early inhabitants. The different languages of their origin – Gaelic, Pictish, Cumbric, Old Norse and Old English – reflect the many cultures that have been part of Scotland's story and preserve the memory of those who gave names to the wild and beautiful landscapes in which they lived. Other names date back to prehistoric times and are the only link to a world now lost to us forever.

This comprehensive book features more than 500 placenames and is an essential book for all interested in Scottish history and culture.

A CROFT IN THE HILLS

KATHARINE STEWART,
FOREWORD BY ANNIE
WORSLEY

- Reissue of this classic Highland bestseller, first published in 1960
- A story of escaping the rat race, and living life on a hill croft near Loch Ness fifty years ago
- Paints a picture of a fascinating part of Scottish history, through lived experience

A Croft in the Hills, first published in 1960, is now acknowledged as a classic among Highland books. It captures, in simple, moving descriptions, what it was really like trying to make a living out of a hill croft near Loch Ness fifty years ago. A couple and their young daughter, fresh from city life, immerse themselves in the practicalities of looking after sheep, cattle and hens, mending fences, baking bread and surviving the worst that Scottish winters can throw at them.

RIOTS AND REBELS

Popular Protest in Britain from the Peasants' Revolt to Extinction Rebellion
NICK RENNISON

- A concise, entertaining survey of an important year in twentieth-century history

The only power otherwise powerless people possess lies in their numbers. Riots and Rebels is an examination of how they have exercised that power over the centuries and how governments have reacted to it. From the so-called Peasants' Revolt to Just Stop Oil, via the anti-Catholic Gordon Riots of 1780, Luddites breaking machinery which threatened their livelihood, the infamous Peterloo Massacre of 1819, the Chartist demonstrations of the 1830s and 1840s, 1887's Bloody Sunday and many other, often violent events, Nick Rennison provides a concise, compelling account of popular protest in Britain.

The Picts have fascinated for centuries. They emerged c. ad 300 to defy the might of the Roman empire only to disappear at the end of the first millennium ad, yet they left major legacies. They laid the foundations for the medieval Scottish kingdom and their captivating carved stones are some of the most eye-catching yet enigmatic monuments in Europe. Until recently the Picts have been difficult to trace due to limited archaeological investigation and documentary sources, but innovative new research has produced critical new insights into the culture of this highly sophisticated society.

A WEEK IN SARAJEVO & OTHER ESSAYS

CHRIS AGEE

- An immigrant and distinguished poet, Agee brings a unique perspective to life in Ireland and the Balkans with their communal and sectarian histories

A long-awaited collection of superb and distinctive essays moving between Ireland and the Balkans, often considering parallels between Belfast and Sarajevo in such well-known work as 'A Week in Sarajevo', 'Weather Report: Good Friday Week, 1998', 'Troubled Belfast', 'A Day with the VJ', 'The Ethnic Basis of Irish Poetry' and 'The View from the Lagan'. An immigrant and distinguished poet, Agee brings a unique perspective to life in Ireland and the Balkans with their communal and sectarian histories.

Agee is a writer particularly concerned with the 'ethical imagination' as exemplified by his 'poetic work of nonfiction' Trump Rant, a nuanced exploration of authoritarian drift and thwarted democratic aspiration.

LIGHT INTO LIFE

MARC QUINN

- Features exclusive images from the exhibition, alongside an essay by Francesca Gavin and contributions by Kew scientists, Prof. William J. Baker and Dr Melanie-Jayne Howes

Light into Life encompasses monumental sculptures in the Kew landscape alongside a gallery exhibition that examines our complex and often challenging relationship with the natural world. It includes newly conceived artworks inspired by Kew's archives, scientific research and horticulture. These are accompanied by a selection of existing pieces, many of which explore the idea of nature as a fundamental part of humanity – a prominent focus of Marc Quinn's practice since the 1990s. Together, the works explore our common biological origins and reflect on humanity's capacity to both preserve and destroy nature.

BEAUTY AND THE GODS

A History from Homer to Plato

HUGO SHAKESHAFT

- How ideas and experiences of beauty informed human relationships with the divine in ancient Greece

Beginning with the earliest Greek literature, the epics of Homer and Hesiod, beauty was seen as having a special connection with the divine. The gods of ancient Greece were defined by their exceptional beauty; even today, 'to look like a Greek god' is proverbial for human beauty. In Beauty and the Gods, Hugo Shakeshaft explores the relationship between the beautiful and divine in ancient Greece, principally in the Archaic period (ca. 750-480 BCE). Analysing evidence that ranges from poetry, art, and philosophical texts to architecture and the natural landscape, Shakeshaft shows how ideas and experiences of beauty shaped Greek relations with the divine.

PEONY

GAIL HARLAND

- A beautifully illustrated cultural history of the silky flower

People have always loved flowers, and peonies are among the most highly regarded, with petals of the finest silk and often a distinctive perfume. Their large, flamboyantly coloured blooms are attractive and photogenic, ideal for celebrations.

Beyond the flowers, the colourful new shoots, described by landscape gardener Gertrude Jekyll as 'dear rosy snouts', add value and interest to any garden. Peonies appear in the art and literature of China, Korea, Japan, the classical Mediterranean and medieval Europe. Charles Darwin, as a child, was sent to count the peonies in his family garden, his first exercise in scientific data collection. Superbly illustrated, and covering cultural as well as botanical aspects, this book is an ideal companion for plant lovers wanting to learn more about this fascinating flower.

GAVIN HASTINGS, WITH PETER BURNS

- Lions touring Australia for the first time in twelve years this July to August!
- A leadership book for business and sports markets written by a legend of Scottish and Lions rugby

A British & Irish Lions tour presents one of the greatest challenges in sport.

Rugby is a game that rewards creative expression, toil, teamwork and a never-say-die attitude. It can be joyful, vibrant and beautiful. Equally, it can brutally expose human flaws and frailties – even more so in the hugely pressurised environment of a Lions tour. Every team, no matter how talented, will find itself in dark and difficult situations both on and off the field; the successful ones are those with a leadership group that can navigate these challenging moments.

DAN EDELSTEIN

- How an event once considered the greatest of all political dangers came to be seen as a solution to all social problems

Political thinkers from Plato to John Adams saw revolutions as a grave threat to society and advocated for a constitution that prevented them by balancing social interests and forms of government. The Revolution to Come traces how evolving conceptions of history ushered in a faith in the power of revolution to create more just and reasonable societies.

Taking readers from Greek antiquity to Leninist Russia, Dan Edelstein describes how classical philosophers viewed history as chaotic and directionless, and sought to keep historical change – especially revolutions – at bay. This conception prevailed until the eighteenth century, when Enlightenment thinkers conceived of history as a form of progress and of revolution as its catalyst.

STATES OF INJURY

Power and Freedom in Late
Modernity
WENDY BROWN

- A landmark work from one of our leading political theorists

A sympathetic critique that attempts to free Left politics from its own snares, States of Injury explores how woundedness became a basis for contemporary political identity.

Without condemning identity politics, Wendy Brown carefully probes the varied historical forces generating them today and the ways these formative conditions constrain emancipatory desire. Along the way, she advances a novel feminist critical theory of liberalism and the liberal democratic state. She also develops an original theoretical practice that weaves together Nietzsche, Marx, Weber, Foucault, and cultural theories of gender and race to analyse contemporary political predicaments. In a new preface, Brown places States of Injury in political and intellectual context, including the rise of neoliberalism.

THE ENTREPRENEURIAL SCHOLAR

A New Mindset for Success in Academia and Beyond
ILANA M. HORWITZ

- An invaluable guide for scholars stifled by the traditional academic route

In the increasingly competitive world of academia, simply mastering your discipline is no longer enough to guarantee career success or personal fulfillment. The Entrepreneurial Scholar challenges scholars at all stages – from doctoral students to tenured professors – to break free from conventional academic pathways by adopting an entrepreneurial mindset. What opportunities can you create based on who you are, what you know, and who you know?

Drawing on her experiences in higher education, start-ups, and management consulting, as well as interviews with a range of academics and entrepreneurs, Ilana Horwitz provides a road map for those stifled by traditional academic norms and expectations.

GUSTAV MAHLER

STEPHEN DOWNES

- The life and work of the ambiguous, provocative Austrian composer and conductor

Gustav Mahler's status as an icon of fin-de-siecle Viennese music is assured, with his works now staples of the concert repertoire. His life story has been told in numerous biographies, films and novels, yet he remains an ambiguous, provocative figure.

Mahler was a composer who challenged musical form and style but identified with German Enlightenment and Romantic culture, disliking many contemporary artistic trends. He was a Jewish conductor who reached the pinnacle of his profession in antisemitic Vienna. He was supposedly haunted by death, trapped in a torrid marriage, and his brief meeting with Freud has spurred posthumous psychoanalytical speculations. This book, reflecting the latest research, constructs a fresh interpretation of Mahler's music in relation to his life.

JOHANNES GUTENBERG

A Biography in Books

ERIC MARSHALL WHITE

- A critical biography of the mysterious but prolific medieval printer

Johannes Gutenberg is famous as the inventor of Europe's first typographic printing method, and his life and legacy have long fascinated a wide audience. Due to scant and vague fifteenth-century documentation, however, Gutenberg's career has long been obscured by derivative storytelling, competing agendas and scholarly guesswork.

This new biography removes these barriers to retell his story directly, through his pioneering work: schoolbooks, pamphlets, indulgences, broadsides and, notably, the first printed Bible. The book also describes Gutenberg's posthumous fortunes, and his eventual recognition as 'Man of the Millennium'. This much-needed corrective to the old legends and conjectures brings Gutenberg to life through the books that remain his lasting monument.

MANNERHEIM,

MARSHAL OF FINLAND

A Life in Geopolitics

HENRIK MEINANDER

- From a recognised expert on Finnish History, whose work has been translated into seventeen languages

Field marshal and statesman Gustaf Mannerheim (1867-1951) was the most acclaimed and the most hated Finn of the twentieth century. After three decades of loyal and distinguished service in the Russian Tsarist army, he returned to his homeland in 1917 to defend its new independence. This iconic figure led the Finnish forces as Commander-in-Chief during both World Wars, then ended his career as President of Finland.

This new critical biography sets Mannerheim's entire life's work, and his often nerve-wracking decisions as a Finnish leader on the world stage, against the backdrop of his elite upbringing and lifestyle.

DAZZLING DARKNESS

The Lives and Afterlives of the Christian Mystics

JAMES HARPUR

- Looks at the lives of modern mystics such as Simone Weil and Thomas Merton as well as legendary figures in history like Hildegard of Bingen
- Examines the teachings of Christian mystics as well as their personal and historical backgrounds

At the core of the Christian faith lies the spiritual journey to the heart of ultimate reality, or God – described by some mystics as a 'dazzling darkness'. For over 2,000 years, certain women and men have experienced various degrees of direct communion with God, from mild illuminations to a union in which the will of the mystic has been consumed.

This book explores such spiritual figures' lives and teachings, alongside their personal and historical backgrounds, from early Christendom to modern mystics such as Simone Weil and Thomas Merton.

THE BHAGAVAD GITA

EKNATH EASWARAN

• Backlist highlight!

- The Bhagavad Gita* is the best known of all the Indian scriptures, and Eknath Easwaran's best-selling translation is reliable, readable, and profound

Easwaran's 55-page introduction places the Bhagavad Gita in its historical setting, and brings out the universality and timelessness of its teachings. Chapter introductions clarify key concepts, and notes and a glossary explain Sanskrit terms.

Easwaran grew up in the Hindu tradition in India, and learned Sanskrit from a young age. He was a professor of English literature before coming to the West on a Fulbright scholarship. A gifted teacher, he is recognized as an authority on the Indian classics and world mysticism.

The Bhagavad Gita opens, dramatically, on a battlefield, as the warrior Arjuna turns in anguish to his spiritual guide, Sri Krishna, for answers to the fundamental questions of life.

THE COMPLETE GUIDE TO YIN YOGA

The Philosophy and Practice of Yin Yoga

BERNIE CLARK, FOREWORD BY SARAH POWERS

• Backlist highlight!

- This second edition of this bestseller provides an in-depth look at the philosophy and practice of Yin Yoga with illustrated how-to sections, including detailed descriptions and photographs of more than 30 asanas

This is an updated version of the book that has become the go-to resource for Yin Yoga teachers all over the world and has been required reading in many teacher training programs. All forms of yoga can provide benefits physically, emotionally, and mentally, however Yin Yoga works the deeper levels of the body/heart/mind: the yin tissues of fascia, tendons, ligaments, joints and bones, as well as the energetic channels of the meridians, nerves and blood system. One big difference noticed by students of Yin Yoga is the long-held, passive nature of the posture, which gives time for a deeper journey to unfold.

BADDAWI

LEILA ABDELRAZAQ

'Leila Abdelrazaq tells a coming of age story that is funny, angry and deeply human.' — Molly Crabapple

• Backlist highlight!

- An arrestingly drawn graphic novel about the experience of Palestinian refugees

Baddawi is the story of a young boy struggling to find his place in the world. Raised in a refugee camp called Baddawi in northern Lebanon, Ahmad is just one of the many thousands of refugee children born to Palestinians who fled their homeland after the war in 1948 established the state of Israel.

In the style and spirit of Maus by Art Spiegelman or Marjane Satrapi's Persepolis, Leila Abdelrazaq explores her father's childhood in the 1960s and '70s from a boy's eye view as he witnesses the world crumbling around him and attempts to carry on, forging his own path in the midst of terrible uncertainty.

'The story of the Palestinian refugees is one we need to know. Leila Abdelrazaq tells this tale with love and humour.' — Seth David Tobocman

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

SUSAN HAMPTON

- Memoir from an Australian literary trailblazer
- A strong story about growing up gay in the 1950s and finding her way

Winner, Victorian Premier’s Literary Awards 2025, Non-Fiction

Warm and wry, mixing high culture and suburban realism, the laconic and the artful, Anything Can Happen is a memoir from one of Australia’s literary trailblazers. Funny, heartbreaking, it has exactly the arc of a good story, with a theme about storytelling and lies and how truth and memory are complex. It keeps in play so many things: irony and spirituality, a slice of social history of Sydney’s inner west, a farm in Victoria, a lesbian subculture, Mardi Gras, the literary pleasures of teaching writing. Juxtaposition is her gift, as is the very natural speaking voice. With the eye of a poet, and the dry drollery of someone who has experienced it all, straight and married, gay and married, mother, friend, lover, writer, this is a raw and powerful account of a life lived fully.

‘I love this memoir – it’s the sort of writing Hampton excels at. There’s no-one else I know who can hit that dry, droll, edgy note and conjure place and time and character and the random nature of memory and story-telling.’ – Kim Mahood

HOW TO TELL WHEN WE WILL DIE

On Pain, Disability, and Doom

JOHANNA HEDVA

- How To Tell* demands that its reader question the way our society is organised and how it discriminately caters to the able body, ignoring the inevitability of its demise. In doing so, it is poised to become the seminal text leading our society’s reevaluation of ableism and systems of care

Winner, Publishing Triangle Awards 2025, Amber Hollibaugh Award for LGBTQ+ Social Justice Writing

The long-awaited essay collection from one of the most influential voices in disability activism that detonates a bomb in our collective understanding of care and illness, showing us that sickness is a fact of life.

In the wake of the 2014 Ferguson riots, and sick with a chronic condition that rendered them housebound, Johanna Hedva turned to the page to ask: How do you throw a brick through the window of a bank if you can’t get out of bed? It was not long before this essay, ‘Sick Woman Theory’, became a seminal work on disability, because in reframing illness as not just a biological experience but a social one, Hedva argues that under capitalism – a system that limits our worth to the productivity of our bodies – we must reach for the revolutionary act of caring for ourselves and others.

UPRISING

War in the colony of New South Wales, 1838–1844

STEPHEN GAPPS

- First detailed analysis of coordinated and combined resistance warfare in the Australian Wars

The First Wiradyuri War of Resistance ended in 1824 with a series of massacres conducted by settlers in the Bathurst region. From the 1830s, colonists began occupying more and more Aboriginal land across western New South Wales and stocking it with sheep and cattle. By 1838, a dramatic fightback began across the entire frontier of the colony. What has been called the Second Wiradyuri War of Resistance, from 1839 to 1841, was, in fact, part of a vast arc of conflict from present-day northern Victoria through to southeast Queensland. At the time, it was seen by many contemporaries as a concerted and coordinated 'uprising'.

Rather, the first politically organised and united all-Aboriginal activist group was the Australian Aboriginal Progressive Association (AAPA), begun in 1924 under the leadership of Frederick Maynard.

THE OLD SONGS ARE ALWAYS NEW

Singing Traditions of the Tiwi Islands

GENEVIEVE CAMPBELL

- The first published book to document Tiwi song types and composition traditions in detail

Approximately 1300 ethnographic field recordings of Tiwi songs, made between 1912 and 1981, are archived at the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies (AIATSIS) in Canberra. In November 2009, Genevieve Campbell and eleven Tiwi colleagues travelled to Canberra to reclaim these archived songs and song texts. The Old Songs are Always New explores their return home to the Tiwi Islands and reveals that the fundamentally contemporary, topical and current nature of the Tiwi song culture has resulted in the preservation of a rich social, cultural and historical oral record.

MY PEOPLE'S SONGS

How an Indigenous Family Survived Colonial Tasmania

JOEL STEPHEN BIRNIE

- The story of one of the most significant Indigenous families of the nineteenth century – told by their descendants

Tarenootairer (c.1806–58) was still a child when a band of white sealers bound her and forced her onto a boat. From there unfolded a life of immense cruelty inflicted by her colonial captors. As with so many Indigenous women of her time, even today the historical record of her life remains a scant thread embroidered with half-truths and pro-colonial propaganda.

But Joel Stephen Birnie grew up hearing the true stories about Tarenootairer, his earliest known ancestral grandmother, and he was keen to tell his family's history without the colonial lens.
