

THE HAUNTING OF MR AND MRS STEVENSON

BELINDA LYONS-LEE

- A page-turning gothic mystery based on a true story
- Written in the voice of Fanny, the wife of Robert Louis Stevenson
- In the spirit of writers from Daphne du Maurier to Stacey Halls (Mrs England)

Before Jekyll and Hyde, there was someone else...

The Haunting of Mr and Mrs Stevenson is a gothic delight. It tells the story of Robert Louis Stevenson's friendship with the charming Eugene Chantrelle and the murder mystery that contributed to Robert's need to create a novel focused on the dualistic nature of the psyche.

From a séance with the Shelleys at Boscombe Manor to a haunted wardrobe made by an infamous Scottish criminal, the novel is underscored by the story of two writers in love. Fanny and Robert were married in 1880, when she was forty and he was twenty-nine. An American who divorced her philandering husband to marry Robert, she was already the mother of children, a self-supporting writer, and with intelligence and wit very much the rock in their relationship.

Brilliantly told in Fanny's voice, this atmospheric novel is both the story of an unconventional literary relationship and a page-turning mystery that reveals the truth about the people, objects and events that inspired Stevenson to write The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde.

Praise for Belinda Lyons-Lee's Writing:

'It's an exhilarating ride, and the writing is astute, and often elegant.' – Thuy On, Sydney Review of Books

'Lyons-Lee can absolutely craft a ripping yarn.' – Jodie Sloan, The AU Review

'Fully researched, but never lets the learning dominate. Rather the sense of a lost time is palpable...' – Lucy Sussex, The Australian

WHAT KEPT YOU?

RAAZA JAMSHED

- A coming of age novel in a world marked by political turmoil and the threat of violence
- A feminist anti-tale, written in a unique, compelling and expressive style, What Kept You? explores survival, metamorphosis, and the radical freedom of choosing one's own ending

As a child in Pakistan, Jahan was raised on her grandmother's stories, influenced by the demons of folklore, and the memory of violence and forced displacement caused by the British partition of India – tales that taught her to be wary of the world. But her grandmother's life, filled with quiet defiance, hints at another truth. Jahan rebels against the constraints she lives under as a young woman growing up in Lahore, and migrates to Australia, where she meets her husband, whose family is Arabic. As she reckons with the unruliness of her body after a miscarriage, and the bushfires which threaten their home and their horses on the rural outskirts of Sydney, she is forced to confront the violence that haunts her, against women, animals, and in nature.

Should we really ever bring our whole selves to work?

In a London call centre, Jimmie helps holiday makers with myriad problems, but he is hardly a model employee. He doesn't simply provide customer service to his clients and advice to his colleagues, he gets involved in their fantasies and frustrations, and now he's about to be hauled up in front of the boss.

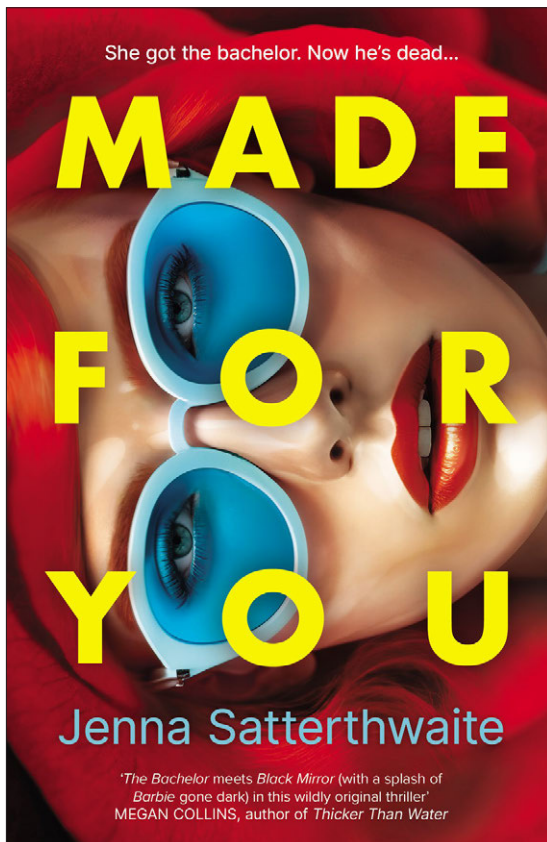

From perfecting his roles as an undertaker and as a clown to performing duties above and beyond his employment contract, he debates the importance of the optimum shade for lipstick and bathroom walls, the pros and cons of nudist versus textile, as well as the psychological impacts of an Italian mother and an emotional support animal.

This is the second, ribald, scatological novel from the brilliant author of The Appointment. Jimmie's sly, sharp, melancholy insights into the indignities of a world which aims to eliminate the human will make you laugh, weep and never look the same way at an electric carving knife again.

Hi. My name is Julia. I'm a Synth. And I'm here to find love...

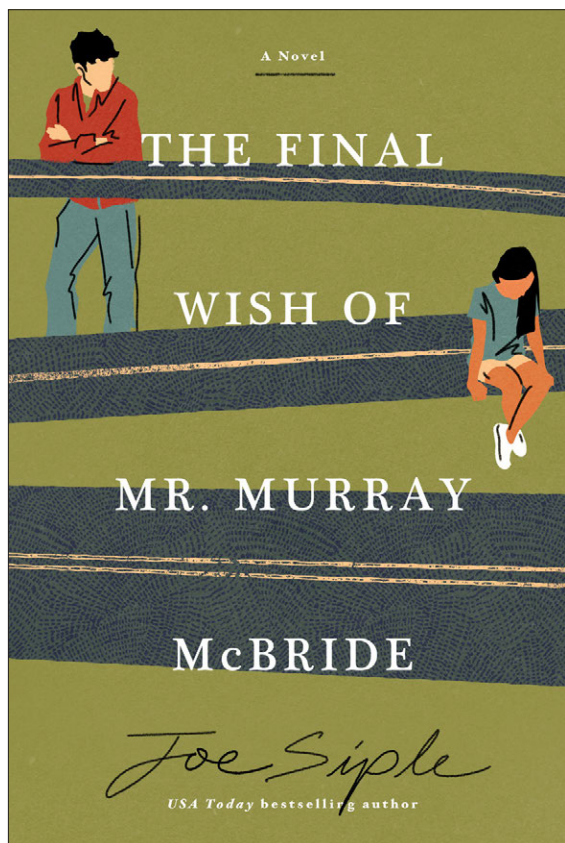

Julia Walden – a Synth – was designed for one reason: to compete on The Proposal and claim the heart of bachelor Josh LaSala. Her casting is controversial, but Julia seems to get her fairy-tale ending when Josh gets down on one knee.

Fast-forward fifteen months, and Julia and Josh are married and raising their baby in small-town Indiana. But with haters around every corner, Julia's life is a far cry from the domestic bliss she imagined. Then her splintering world shatters: Josh goes missing, and she becomes the prime suspect in his murder.

With no one left she can trust, Julia takes the investigation into her own hands. But the explosive truths she uncovers will drive her to her breaking point – and isn't that where a person's true nature is revealed? That is...if Julia truly is a person.

In the second book in the international bestselling Mr. Murray McBride series, the path to finding future happiness might just be paved in the lessons of the past...

Jason Cashman has reached the goal he spent the last twenty years seeking: raising a million dollars for charity. But instead of feeling content, he now feels empty. What comes next? When he meets Alexandra Lopez – a determined ten-year-old girl facing deportation and uncertainty – he is inspired by his old friend, Murray McBride, to help her fulfill five wishes before she must leave. Jason and Alexandra set out to check off as many of her wishes as possible, but when his transplanted heart begins to fail, he must choose between his obligations to the past and his hope for a future.

IF I MUST DIE

Poetry and Prose

REFAAT ALAREER, COMPILED BY YOUSEF M. ALJAMAL, FOREWORD BY SUSAN ABULHAWA

- A Tribute to a Legendary Voice Silenced Too Soon: Alareer's poem 'If I Must Die' has been viewed on social media over one million times, including a reading by the actor Brian Cox
- This compilation serves as a definitive collection of Refaat Alareer's work, celebrating the rich legacy of a poet, professor, and activist. Bringing together his most powerful and evocative works, the book ensures that Alareer's voice continues to resonate
- Featuring pieces never before published alongside globally acclaimed poems like 'If I Must Die', this book presents a unique opportunity to explore the depth and breadth of Alareer's literary passion
- Alareer's works encapsulate the resilience and generosity of the Palestinian spirit in the face of immense hardship. His writings do more than recount suffering; they highlight the enduring strength and humanity of his people

'If I must die, let it bring hope, let it be a tale.'

This rich, elegiac compilation of work from the late Palestinian poet and professor, Refaat Alareer, brings together his marvellous poetry and deeply human writing about literature, teaching, politics, and family.

The renowned poet and literature professor Refaat Alareer was killed by an Israeli airstrike in Gaza City alongside his brother, sister, and nephews in December 2023. He was just forty-four years old, but had already established a worldwide reputation that was further enhanced when, in the wake of his death, the poem that gives this book its title became a global sensation. 'If I Must Die' is included here, alongside Refaat's other poetry.

Refaat wrote extensively about a range of topics: teaching Shakespeare and the way Shylock could be appreciated by young Palestinian students; the horrors of living under repeated brutal assaults in Gaza, one of which, in 2014, killed another of his brothers; and the generosity of Palestinians to each other, fighting, in the face of it all, to be the one paying at the supermarket checkout.

Such pieces, some never before published, have been curated here by one of Refaat's closest friends and collaborators. This collection forms a fitting testament to a remarkable writer, educator, and activist, one whose voice will not be silenced by death but will continue to assert the power of learning and humanism in the face of barbarity.

'A riveting world, a fierce heroine, and electrifying action – I burned through this sparkling debut!'
– Sarah J. Maas, New York Times bestselling author

MURDER AS A FINE ART

CAROL CARNAC, E. C. R. LORAC

- A classic mystery reprinting for the first time since the 1950s – copies of the original are extremely scarce
- One of the reader favourites of the Crime Classics series returns, with the third Carnac novel starring Julian Rivers
- London political setting, sending up the machinations of the civil service and the ego-driven world of fine art

A gigantic marble bust stood on a pedestal at the head of the staircase.

'It's a work of art,' said David unhappily. 'One mustn't let personal prejudice intervene...'

'I've often wondered if it would topple off with a little encouragement,' said Pompfret.

'It'd be a wonderful sight to see it bounce down the stairs. It must weigh several tons...'

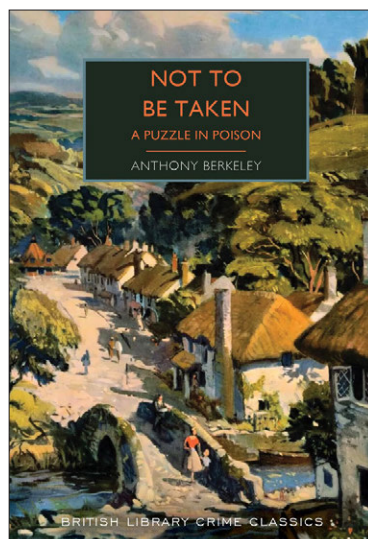

The newly formed Ministry of Fine Arts has a staffing problem – one minister dead within six months of its inception, his successor snuffed out shortly before the General Election. When a third victim, Permanent Secretary Edwin Pompfret is fatally crushed by the fall of a giant bust, Inspector Julian Rivers is drawn into a case of murder of artistic devilment.

'Her best yet. A classic story with well concealed and ingenious clues, sufficiently difficult to leave us properly surprised by both murderer and method.' – Spectator, 1953

NOT TO BE TAKEN

A Puzzle in Poison

ANTHONY BERKELEY

- Berkeley is one of the series bestsellers, and this is his fifth novel to join the Crime Classics series
- A true challenge to Golden Age fans, famous for its light-touch clues hidden through the narrative, and an ending that still resonates
- Set in the countryside of Dorset and Somerset, with lashings of international intrigue

John Waterhouse has died of some gastric complication. Exhumed at his brother's request, it transpires that he has been killed by arsenical poisoning, though nobody in the sleepy village of Anneypenny seems to have had a reason to do him ill. Rumours abound of Nazi intrigue and military skullduggery, but whatever the motive, the truth remains; this was murder.

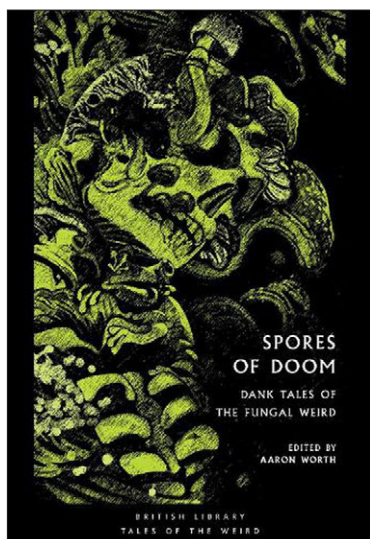

Originally serialised as a competition with a prize for the readers that could answer Berkeley's direct challenge of 'who was the poisoner?', Not to Be Taken remains one of the most fiendish exercises in subtle cluework and detection from the Golden Age of Crime.

'The murder is by arsenic; and although the number of suspects is strictly limited the construction is so ingenious that to attain the correct solution of the problem requires all the reader's concentration; to skip is fatal.' – Times Literary Supplement, 1938

SPORES OF DOOM

Dank Tales of the Fungal Weird

EDITED BY AARON WORTH

- An anthology exploring a popular trope of modern horror media, tracing its roots in classic literature
- Featuring classic stories from Edgar Allan Poe, William Hope Hodgson, Ray Bradbury and H. P. Lovecraft alongside obscure finds from the British Library collections
- Including mushroom imagery from the British Library collections by the master of the fungal illustration, Fritz Leuba

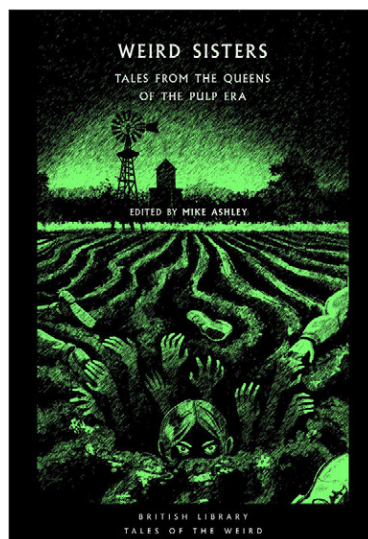

There was a slight, sickening noise of tearing...one of the branch-like arms was detaching itself from the surrounding grey masses...The head of the thing – a shapeless grey ball, inclined in my direction.

From the fungus-webbed House of Usher to the maddening, fungus-like wallpaper of Charlotte Perkins Gilman's classic tale of madness, and Ray Bradbury's account of insidious mushroom dispersal via the US postal system, weird fiction has harboured a thriving culture of fungal horrors throughout the past two centuries.

With stories of mycological possession alongside dark, pulpy science fiction monstrous fruiting bodies run amok, this new anthology collects the classic with the lost and obscure to trace our fascination with a spore-infested branch of British and American fiction.

Tales from the Queens of the Pulp Era

EDITED BY MIKE ASHLEY

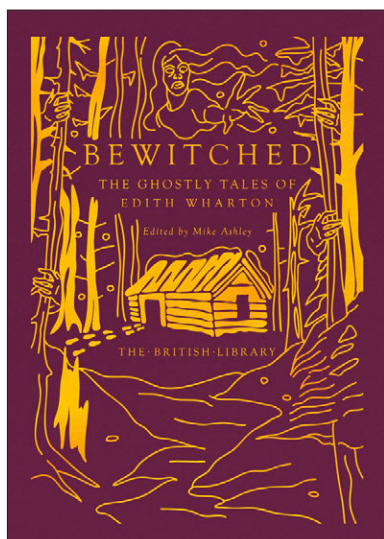

- The spiritual successor to the popular Tales of the Weird anthology Queens of the Abyss, published in 2020
- An anthology delivering one of the core missions of the Tales of the Weird series – bringing unjustly forgotten authors of the genre back into the limelight
- Featuring thorough notes by Mike Ashley on the fascinating lives and publishing history of these Queens of the pulps

It is natural, especially at her age, that she should crave, need meat. When I am a little better I will go out and set traps, as I used to do as a boy...We must give her meat; she has done a great deal for us.

Featuring a riot of monsters, murderesses and madness from a mixture of lesser-known writers and some surprises such as Lucy M. Montgomery, author of Anne of Green Gables, this new selection also includes a 1980s story by Tanith Lee, one of the great proponents of Weird Tales magazine's revival era, and a recently discovered tale by the fantasy writer Evangeline Walton.

BEWITCHED

The Ghostly Tales of Edith Wharton
EDITH WHARTON, EDITED BY MIKE ASHLEY

- A new edition exploring the works of one of the great ghost story writers, Edith Wharton, aiming to position her firmly amongst the household names published so far in the Gilded Nightmares series
- Featuring some of Wharton's essential classics such as 'The Eyes' and 'Afterward' along with less-anthologised masterpieces of the short story form

She leaned closer, her voice dropping. 'I seen 'em.'

In the ashen light from the veiling of snow beyond the windows the Deacon's little screwed-up eyes seemed to give out red sparks.

'Him and the dead?'

'Him and the dead.'

Drawing from a lifetime of supernatural short-story writing, this new collection of Wharton's greatest, and most chilling, tales show one of the most talented ghost story practitioners of all time at her very best.

This new edition will feature a new introductory essay discussing Wharton's indelible influence on the ghost story genre, as well as rarely anthologised tales from the British Library's editions of the legendary author's extensive oeuvre.

THE SPRING BEGINS

KATHERINE DUNNING, AFTERWORD BY SIMON THOMAS

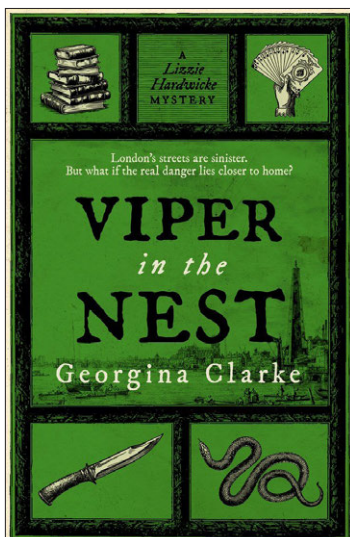

- A tender portrait of self-discovery and female awakening which explores the reality of domestic servants in the 1930s
- First published in 1934, The Spring Begins is a rediscovered masterpiece, building three unique female voices into reflections on nature, desire and self-determination

She knew now, with a sense of deep tranquil certainty, that terror and injury could not spring from love of this kind, no matter what Nurse said. But she could not put all this into words.

Set over the course of a summer, The Spring Begins follows the autonomous awakenings of three women at various stages of life and at different levels of employment within households. There's the young orphan Lottie, employed as a nursemaid to the wealthy Kellaway children and terrified by the world of men; the scullery maid Maggie, 19, and unafraid of seeking out pleasure where it is offered to her; and Hussy Price the older governess to a local clerical family whose worldview shatters when her younger sister becomes engaged. As each woman tries to navigate their physical desires alongside social propriety, the currency of beauty and youth alongside the toll domestic work and poverty takes on their bodies, each comes to find happiness in their own unique way.

GEORGINA CLARKE

- A gripping and vividly imagined historical mystery set in 18th century London, from the author of acclaimed historical novel The Dazzle of the Light
- Perfect for fans of Stacey Halls, Laura Shepherd-Robinson, Laura Purcell, Sarah Waters and Diana Gabaldon

London, June 1759. When a charmless civil servant takes his own life, few are interested in his death. But Lizzie Hardwicke, who plies her trade in the brothels of London whilst also working as an undercover sleuth for the magistrate, can see no reason why a man who had everything to look forward to would wish to end his life.

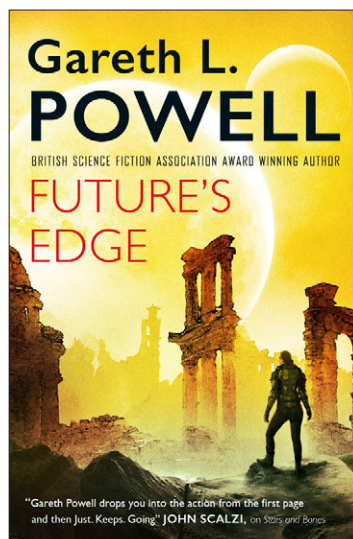

Lizzie's search for answers takes her from the smoke-filled rooms of fashionable gambling houses, where politicians mix ambition with pleasure, to the violent streets of Soho, ready to erupt with riots in the sultry summer heat. All the while, she is navigating her complicated feelings for the magistrate's trusted assistant, Will Davenport, and a disturbing situation at home.

Then a gambling house owner is brutally murdered, and Lizzie finds herself tangled in a chaos that she cannot control. The darkest of secrets threatens to turn Davenport against her forever; its exposure will send her to the gallows.

EMILY ST. JAMES

- A debut that addresses a serious social issue, that of the continued (and increasing) marginalisation of the trans community
- Recent years have seen readers devour contemporary coming-of-age narratives about characters 'growing up' later in life

An unforgettable and heartwarming book-club debut following a trans high school teacher from a small town in South Dakota who befriends the only other trans woman she knows: one of her students.

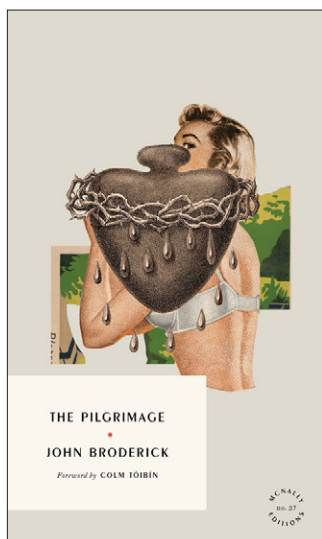

Erica Skyberg is thirty-five years old, recently divorced – and trans. Not that she's told anyone yet. Mitchell, South Dakota, isn't exactly bursting with other trans women. Instead, she keeps to herself, teaching by day and directing community theater by night. That is, until Abigail Hawkes enters her orbit.

Abigail is seventeen, Mitchell High's resident political dissident and Only Trans Girl. It's a role she plays faultlessly, albeit a little reluctantly. She's also annoyed by the idea of spending her senior year secretly guiding her English teacher through her transition. But Abigail remembers the uncertainty – and loneliness – that comes with it. Besides, Erica isn't the only one struggling to shed the weight of others' expectations.

As their unlikely friendship evolves, it comes under the scrutiny of their community. And soon, both women are forced to ask: Who are we if we choose to hide ourselves?

THE PILGRIMAGE

JOHN BRODERICK, FOREWORD BY
COLM TÓIBÍN

- A daring predecessor to the works of Edna O'Brien and Claire Keegan: The Pilgrimage is possibly the most decadent novel written about repressed small-town Irish life
- One of the great twist endings in modern fiction: Like Rebecca, The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne, and McNally Editions' own Twice Lost, The Pilgrimage is a great novel of psycho-sexual suspense with an unforgettably shocking ending

An erotic nightmare of Catholic longing, guilt, and desire and a banned classic of modern Irish literature.

Wealthy and devout, Michael and Julia Glynn are the envy of their neighbours and the model Irish Catholic couple, bearing Michael's increasingly painful and crippling arthritis with stoicism. In hope of a miracle, their priest suggests a family pilgrimage to Lourdes. Yet these pious holiday plans are thrown into disarray when anonymous, obscene letters begin to arrive, full of terrible accusations.

Banned in Ireland on its first publication in 1961, Broderick's debut arrived 'like an incendiary device' (Sunday Independent). The Pilgrimage anticipated the deep shifts that would soon turn the country's theocratic society upside down. It is a darkly comic, blasphemous, and sexually charged chamber drama.

THE BEST WE COULD HOPE FOR

NICOLA KRAUS

- From a #1 New York Times bestselling author comes a powerful novel about family, the weight of secrets, the choices we make and the repercussions of the decisions made for us
- For fans of Claire Lombardo's The Most Fun We Ever Had, Anne Tyler's A Spool of Blue Thread and Cynthia D'Aprix Sweeney's The Nest, as well as readers of Mary Beth Keane and Emma Straub

When Bunny Linden abandons her three children with her older sister, Jayne, in 1972, she knows Jayne will be the perfect mother. The mother Bunny, a teen runaway, could never be.

As months turn into years without word, Jayne and her husband, Rodger, a rising star of New York's journalism scene, strive to give the children the opportunity to flourish and feel loved. When Jayne and Rodger finally have a child of their own, a seemingly stable home is built. But then, after nearly a decade, Bunny resurfaces and sets a chain of events in motion that detonates all their lives.

As adults, their children try to reassemble the pieces and solve the mystery that has always haunted them: who were their parents? What really happened between them? And who is ultimately to blame for the destruction?

A MOUTH FULL OF SALT REEM GAAFAR

- Masterfully weaves together a story spanning three generations of women

Winner, The Island Prize 2023

A small farming village in North Sudan wakes up one morning to the news that a little boy has drowned. Soon after, the animals die of a mysterious illness and the date gardens catch fire and burn to the ground. The villagers whisper of a sorceress who dwells at the foot of the mountains. It is the dry season. The men have places to go, the women have work to do, the children play at the place where the river runs over its own banks. Sixteen-year-old Fatima yearns to leave the village for Khartoum.

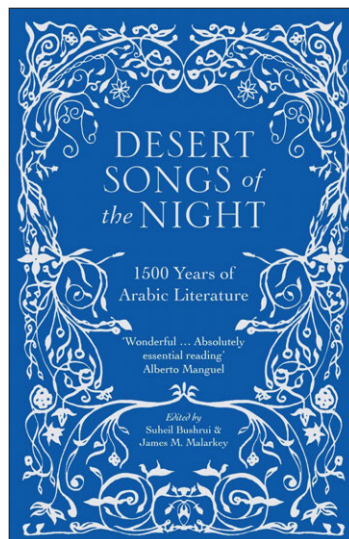

In Khartoum, a single mother makes her way in a world that wants to keep girls and women back. As civil war swells, the political intrudes into the personal and her position in the capital becomes untenable. She must return to the village.

A Mouth Full of Salt uncovers a country on the brink of seismic change as its women decide for themselves which traditions are fit for purpose.

CLASSICAL POEMS BY ARAB WOMEN

An Anthology

VOLUME EDITOR ABDULLAH AL-UDHARI,

ILLUSTRATED BY LAURA MAGGI

- A beautiful bilingual gift edition of rarely seen love poetry by classical Arab women writers
- Brings together rarely seen poems by over 60 writers, from 4000 BCE to 1492 CE

Arab women poets have been around since the earliest of times, yet their diwans (collected poems) were not given the same consideration as their male counterparts'.

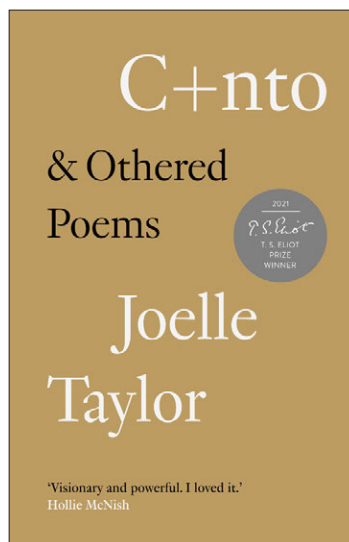

Spanning 5,000 years, from the pre-Islamic to the Andalusian periods, Classical Poems by Arab Women presents rarely seen work by over fifty women writers for the first time. From the sorrowful eulogies of Khansa to the gleeful scorn of Wallada bint al-Mustakfi, this collection features the work of Arab women who boldly refused to be silenced. The poems are excursions into their vibrant world whose humanity has been suppressed for centuries by religious and political bigotry.

With poems in both English and Arabic, this remarkable anthology celebrates feminine wit and desire, and shows the significant contribution Arab women made to the literary tradition.

- Electrifying collection exploring the underground lesbian scene by spoken word pioneer Joelle Taylor

Winner, T. S. Eliot Prize 2021

Winner, Polari Prize 2022

A New Statesman, TLS and White Review Book of the Year

C+nto enters the private lives of women from the butch counterculture, telling the inside story of the protests they led in the '90s to reclaim their bodies as their own – their difficult balance between survival and self-expression. History, magic, rebellion, party and sermon vibrate through Joelle Taylor's cantos to uncover these underground communities forged by women.

Part-memoir and part-conjecture, Taylor explores sexuality and gender in poetry that is lyrical, expansive, imagistic, epic and intimate. C+nto is a love poem, a riot, a late night and an honouring.

'A celebration and a tribute to the dyke bars and the butches who left their mark, this book reminds the reader that to exist as we do is a form of protest.' – Diva Magazine, Book of the Month

A HUNDRED YEARS AND A DAY

34 Stories

TOMOKA SHIBASAKI, TRANSLATED BY POLLY BARTON

- Tomoka Shibasaki is known for her exquisitely crafted stories of human connection in a contemporary, alienated world
- This ground-breaking collection from Tomoka Shibasaki, author of the acclaimed novel Spring Garden, pushes the short story to a new level

In these stories of human connection in a contemporary, alienated world, people come together to share pieces of their lives, then part. We meet the women who share a house after the outbreak of war before going their separate ways once it is over; the man who lives in a succession of rooftop apartments; the diverging lives of two brothers who are raised as latch-key kids by factory workers; the old ramen restaurant that endures despite the demolition of all surrounding buildings; people who watch a new type of spaceship lift off from a pier that once belonged to an island resort; and more.

MURDER MOST FOUL

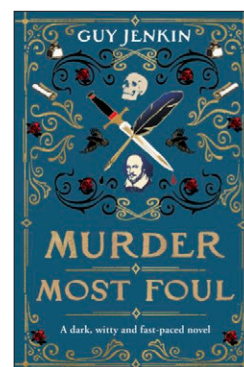

GUY JENKIN

- A dark, witty and fast-paced novel, from one of Britain's best-loved screenwriters

It's 1593, Elizabeth I is Queen and everyone is terrified of the worst outbreak of plague in a generation. Shakespeare has only written six plays and is lagging behind his friend Christopher Marlowe, London's leading playwright. When Marlowe is stabbed to death in mysterious circumstances, rumours abound – but the one that won't go away is that Shakespeare did it to remove his greatest rival.

Will is determined to clear his name, and teams up with his old flame, Marlowe's sister Ann, who has plenty of secrets of her own. In their search to solve the crime, Will and Ann uncover a dark world of treachery, murder, and corruption – which in turn provides Shakespeare with scenes and characters which will appear in his greatest plays.

SHERLOCK HOLMES AND DORIAN GRAY

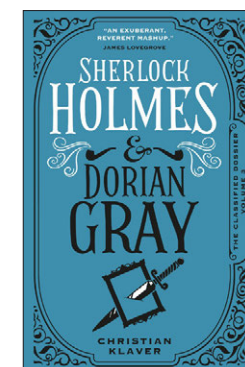

CHRISTIAN KLAVER

- Will appeal to readers of previous successful mash-ups like *Sherlock vs. Cthulhu
- Sherlock and Watson solve mysteries featuring characters from Gothic literature, including Dracula, Jekyll and Hyde and *Dorian Gray

Mysterious socialite Dorian Gray is at the centre of Sherlock Holmes' latest investigation in this astonishing, uncanny mash-up of Victorian mystery and horror.

1903. Sherlock Holmes and Dr John Watson have tickets to the newly arrived Circus of Amun-Ra. Holmes is puzzled by his brother Mycroft's cryptic gift but is intrigued enough to attend the next production.

The performers, dressed as wondrous half-animal, half-human gods from Egyptian mythology, display superhuman agility and stunts. But they speak no Arabic, sequester themselves in the stables after each show and take orders from a mysterious ring master who is yet to be seen. And then one of the performers is murdered.

THE METAMORPHOSIS & OTHER STORIES

FRANZ KAFKA

- As Franz Kafka's most well-known work, The Metamorphosis has been cited as one of the seminal works of fiction of the 20th century and is widely studied in colleges and universities across the western world

Franz Kafka's bizarrely comedic meditation on human feelings of inadequacy, guilt, and isolation expressed through the story of a man who is transformed overnight into a giant beetle, now repackaged with a beautifully designed jacket by noted illustrator Malika Favre.

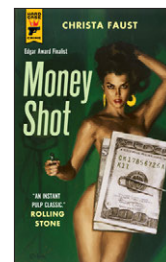

Only yesterday, Gregor Samsa was a meek salesman, browbeaten by his unappreciative employer and depended on fiercely by his ungrateful family. This morning, Gregor awakens to discover that, overnight, he has been transformed into a monstrous insect. First published in 1915, Kafka's best-known tale has inspired numerous interpretations for more than a century.

THE LEGEND OF SLEEPY HOLLOW & OTHER STORIES

WASHINGTON IRVING

- The Signature Editions series includes the best-known works of the literary canon and champions a diverse vision of classic literature

Ichabod Crane, a schoolteacher, came to Tarry Town in the glen of Sleepy Hollow to ply his trade in educating young minds. He was a gullible and excitable fellow, often so terrified by locals' stories of ghosts that he would hurry through the woods on his way home, singing to keep from hysterics. Until late one night, he finds that maybe they're not just stories. What is that dark, menacing figure riding behind him on a horse? And what does it have in its hands? And why wasn't schoolteacher Crane ever seen in Sleepy Hollow again?

This edition also includes Washington Irving's other short stories, including 'Rip van Winkle'.

THE COLLECTED WILL EISNER'S JOHN LAW

WILL EISNER, ILLUSTRATED BY GARY CHALONER

- Considered one of the fathers of modern comics and the graphic novel format. Eisner is one of the true greats of comic book art
- Eisner's gorgeous black and white drawing style lends itself perfectly to the genre of crime noir, and his tales mix deadly femme fatales with hard-bitten detectives and ruthless gangsters to perfect effect

Wherever men live, be they nomads or city dwellers, there they must have law and a man to enforce it. Meet Detective John Law of Crossroads City. Strong, decent, hardworking and hard-nosed. He's a man who believes in the law and order. He's the last of a dying breed.

In 1948, Will Eisner produced the first issue of 'John Law Detective', which he intended to add to a line of self-published comics. However, after Eisner's 'Baseball Comics', 'Kewpies', and 'Pirate Comics' failed to find an audience, John Law never made it to the newsstand and was quietly dropped, with much of the original artwork reworked in 1950 for his most famous creation, The Spirit.

Featuring original stories by Will Eisner, Gary Chaloner's award-winning reboot from 2004, including a previously unpublished John Law Story, and a forward by long-time Eisner publisher Denis Kitchen, this is a must-have for not just Eisner fans but comic collectors of all ages.

Cordelia knows her mother is unusual. Their house doesn't have any doors between rooms – there are no secrets in this house! – Cordelia isn't allowed to have a single friend. Unless you count Falada, her mother's beautiful white horse. The only time Cordelia feels truly free is on her daily rides with him. But more than a few quirks set her mother apart. Other parents can't force their daughters to be silent and motionless – obedient – for hours or days on end. Other mothers aren't...sorcerers.

COUP DE GRÂCE

SOFIA AJRAM

- Mindbending psychological horror about a young man trapped in an endless looping subway station
- Ideal for fans of Russian Doll, House of Leaves and Piranesi

Nominated, Bram Stoker Awards 2024, Superior Achievement in Long Fiction

Vicken has a plan: throw himself into the Saint Lawrence River in Montreal and end it all for good, believing it to be the only way out for him after a lifetime of depression and pain. But, stepping off the subway, he finds himself in an endless, looping station.

Determined to find a way out again, he starts to explore the rooms and corridors ahead of him. But no matter how many claustrophobic hallways or vast cathedral-esque rooms he passes through, the exit is nowhere in sight. The more he explores his strange new prison, the more he becomes convinced that he hasn't been trapped there accidentally.

CALYPSO

OLIVER K. LANGMEAD

- Colonial ark Science Fiction perfect for readers of Kim Stanley Robinson, Adrian Tchaikovsky, Anne Leckie and more

Shortlisted, British Science Fiction Association Awards 2024

A ground-breaking, mind-bending and wildly imaginative epic verse revolution in Science Fiction.

Rochelle wakes from cryostasis to take up her role as engineer on the colony ark, Calypso. But she finds the ship has transformed into a forest, populated by the original crew's descendants, who revere her like a saint. She travels the ship with the Calypso's creator, the enigmatic Sigmund, and Catherine, a bioengineered marvel who can commune with the plants, uncovering a new history of humanity forged while she slept. She discovers a legacy of war between botanists and engineers.

I WAS A TEENAGE SLASHER

STEPHEN GRAHAM JONES

- The ideal companion to Jones's Lake Witch trilogy, Grady Hendrix's The Final Girl Support Group and How To Sell a Haunted House
- Jones fills this cinematic tale of slasher horror with genuine emotion and smart humour, drawing on his own childhood in Texas

*Nominated, Bram Stoker Awards 2024,
Superior Achievement in a Novel*

1989, Lamesa, Texas. A community driven by oil and cotton – a town where everyone knows everyone else's business. Tolly Driver, seventeen, a good kid with more potential than application, exists on the outskirts with his best friend, Amber. They navigate the hellscape of the teenage social scene, sticking together in a place that doesn't know how to be different.

But when they go to a fateful party at Deek Masterton's house — a party that ends in a series of gruesome, brutal and extravagant murders — Tolly's world gets flipped upside-down.

HORROR MOVIE

PAUL TREMBLAY

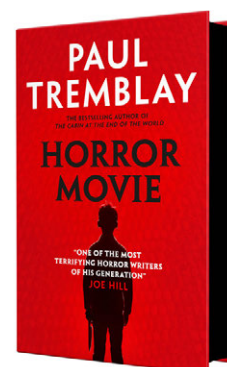

- For fans of monstrous horror, slasher films and psychological dread, by authors such as Stephen Graham Jones, Richard Kadrey and Grady Hendrix
- Riding the wave of slasher/horror film-inspired novels, Tremblay delivers his most monstrous novel to date

*Nominated, Bram Stoker Awards 2024,
Superior Achievement in a Novel*

Summer, 1993 – a group of young guerrilla filmmakers spend four weeks making Horror Movie, a notorious, disturbing, art-house horror film. Steeped in mystery and tragedy, the film has taken on a mythic, cult renown, despite only three of the original scenes ever being released to the public.

Decades later, a big budget reboot is in the works, and Hollywood turns to the only surviving cast member – the man who played 'the Thin Kid', the masked teen at the centre of it all.

HOUSE OF BONE AND RAIN

GABINO IGLESIAS

- Gripping, intense and very moving, the story of five teenaged boys in Puerto Rico seeking revenge after one of their mothers is murdered
- Absorbing, compelling and violent horror written in fast moving prose with a haunted dark heart

*Nominated, Bram Stoker Awards 2024,
Superior Achievement in a Novel*

For childhood friends Gabe, Xavier, Tavo, Paul, and Bimbo, death has always been close. Hurricanes. Car accidents. Gang violence. Suicide.

Estamos rodeados de fantasmas was Gabe's grandmother's refrain. We are surrounded by ghosts. But this time is different. Bimbo's mum has been shot dead. We're gonna kill the guys who killed her Bimbo swears. And they all agree. Feral with grief, Bimbo has become unrecognisable, taking no prisoners in his search for names. Soon, they learn Maria was gunned down by guys working for the drug kingpin of Puerto Rico.
